

Creative Arts Classes Fall 2010

Schedule and Descriptions...

BEE Creative & Company is an arts organization which has been celebrating the gifts and talents of children in the Concord area since 2001. We are happy to be offering a variety of creative arts classes this fall at The Refuge. Our 10-week sessions in DRAMA, ART and DANCE will culminate with our Fall Family Showcase. We hope your family will join us and as we embark on an artistic adventure to “discover what’s inside...”

If your child needs a “dramatic outlet” or would like to grow in his/her performance skills, one of our drama classes may be just the thing you’re looking for. This ten week session of classes includes Creative Drama for elementary age students with little to no experience in acting, and Performance Classes for middle and high school students as well as experienced elementary aged students who have had foundational classes in the past. Students in our Play Creation/Performance Class will get to be part of the creative process of creating characters and writing a play for their class to perform. These classes will be taught by BEE Creative founder and director, Dar Draper.

A new “Methods of Acting Class” will be offered in the fall for high school students and young adults up to age 20, taught by James Shafer who has his degree in Theatre and is currently pursuing his Masters in Theatre Education. “Way Clear Shakespeare” class will be offered in the spring semester, which will be a 10 week intensive study on Shakespeare with a concentration on understanding and acting “the Bard.” This is an ideal course to prepare actors for BEE Creative’s production of “As You Like It” in May.

All classes will conclude with a Family Showcase. *Grades/ages of classes are flexible and dependent on casting needs and your scheduling needs. For more information, please call our instructor, Dar Draper @ 704 699-6368 or email her at dardraper@gmail.com.
