Creative Arts Classes Spring 2012

Schedule and Descriptions...

BEE Creative & Company is an arts organization which has been celebrating the gifts and talents of children in the Concord area since 2001. We are happy to be offering a variety of creative arts classes this fall at The Refuge. Our 10-week sessions in DRAMA, ART and Dance classes will culminate with our Spring Celebration of Talent the weekend of April 27th. We hope your family will join us as we embark on a new artistic adventure to “discover what’s inside...”

ART!

Drawing Class with Pencil and Colored Pencils

This class will focus on the fundamentals of drawing, an essential class for any budding artist! Lessons will be designed to increase student’s ability to draw realistically as realistic drawing is traditionally taught as a basic foundational technique before all other types of drawing. During this course, color theory and colored pencil techniques will be explored.

Students will receive group instruction and individual coaching during each class period. Plan on working hard but the main emphasis will be on having fun! Our instructor will be Beth Pell who has a BFA in Art Education from UNC- Greensboro. She has taught for the Charlotte-Mecklenburg school system in the past and is presently homeschooling her children and teaching art whenever she can. Classes begin Monday, January 30th.

Art Class (4th-6th Grade)

DRAMA!

If your child needs a “dramatic outlet” or would like to grow in his/her performance skills, one of our drama classes may be just the thing you’re looking for. This ten week session of classes includes Creative Drama for elementary age students with little to no experience in acting, and Performance Classes for middle and high school students as well as experienced elementary aged students who have had foundational classes or experience in the past. Performance classes provide instruction through the process of rehearsing for a play to be performed at the end of our term. These classes will be taught by BEE Creative founder and director, Dar Draper.

Our Advanced Acting Class this spring will teach acting techniques through improv and traditional methods. The class will also develop characters through script analysis and perform pieces at a Spring Showcase. Our 10 week class is for high school students and young adults up to age 20, and will be taught by Dar Draper, Founder of BEE Creative, and James Shafer who has his degree in Theatre and Masters in Theatre Education. For more information, please call our instructor, Dar Draper @ 704 699-6368 or email her at dardraper@gmail.com.

DANCE!

Worship Dance

Come and worship the Lord through dance with Martha Pell.

Martha Pell loves to worship the Lord with dance. She has danced with two dance ministries, allowing her to use this beautiful form of worship in missions and ministry. With 9+ years of worship dance and 5 years of ballet technique, this is truly a passion of hers. Open to boys and girls alike, this is a beginner class where we will explore dance as worship and learn the basic techniques foundational for dance.

Supplies – ballet shoes and clothes that are easy to move in.
Costume fee for end of class presentation: $20 or under.
